Isaac Newton Trust Academic Career Development Fellow in Social Anthropology

Salary:

£36,024 - £44,263 per annum, (with a starting salary of £36,204-£39,347 per annum depending on experience)

Contract:

Fixed Term, three years

Location:

Cambridge

Faculty / Department:

Department of Social Anthropology

Responsible to:

Head of Department (University contract), Deputy Senior Tutor for Teaching and Outreach (College contract)

Working Pattern:

Full time comprised of two co-terminous contracts, 70% FTE in the Department, 30% FTE in Hughes Hall

Purpose of the role

The Department of Social Anthropology is seeking to appoint an Isaac Newton Trust Academic Career Development Fellow in Social Anthropology, with a focus on medical anthropology broadly defined, including the study of health and well-being. The Fellowship is a new opportunity for exceptional scholars to contribute to both research and teaching within a Faculty and College environment, offering excellent preparation for subsequent academic appointments at Cambridge or elsewhere.

The Fellowship is offered through partnership between the Department of Social Anthropology, University of Cambridge and Hughes Hall, Cambridge with co-terminous appointments of a 70% of full time contract at the Department of Social Anthropology and a 30% of full time contract at Hughes Hall.

As an Isaac Newton Trust Academic Career Development Fellow, you will have an opportunity to:

- enjoy protected time for an independent research project;
- be embedded in a Department research and teaching culture;
- teach in Colleges in small groups;
- act as a College Director of Studies;
- teach undergraduate and Masters students in a Department setting;
- be mentored by Department members in academic skills (teaching, research, publication, grant applications, academic administration).

Eligible candidates will be at an early stage of their career and the role would suit newly qualified researchers.

Key responsibilities for University Department contract

- Develop and carry through anthropological research in line with the Fellowship research aims, managing own research independently and collaboratively.
- Assist in the organisation and presentation of seminars, conferences and workshops as required and present research at relevant conferences, communicating material of a specialist or highly technical nature.

Key responsibilities (cont.) for University Department contract

- Write up and submit for publication, over the course of the tenure, and as relevant for your research, a combination of single-authored peer-reviewed articles or book chapters and/or, a book proposal for a single authored monograph.
- Contribute to planning of joint research projects led by senior researchers.
- Assist in the preparation of proposals and applications to external bodies, eg. for funding and contractual purposes.
- Follow the reporting and ethical guidelines as set out by the, ASA, the University of Cambridge and the Department of Social Anthropology.
- Continually update knowledge and understanding in the field and translate knowledge of advances into research activity.
- Provide supervision of student classes and projects for undergraduate and taught postgraduate students.
- Plan and deliver seminars relating to own research area.
- Assist in the development of student research skills.
- Be based in Cambridge (with the exception of periods of fieldwork) and be actively engaged with the Department of Social Anthropology, including liaising with internal and external contacts and participating in networks for the exchange of information and to form relationships for future collaboration.
- The successful candidate may also be invited to participate in the overall contribution of the Department of Social Anthropology, as appropriate.

Key responsibilities for Hughes Hall contract

In addition to the Department duties, the Fellow will be expected to fulfil the following Hughes Hall based duties:

- The person appointed will be elected to a Fellowship of Hughes Hall and be a member of the Governing Body and therefore a trustee of the College, which is a charitable foundation.
- Fellows of Hughes Hall are expected to participate in the social and intellectual life of the College through attending academic events, appearing at mealtimes, and contributing to teaching and research activities.
- Deliver undergraduate supervisions as required by Hughes Hall.
- Act as a Hughes Hall Director of Studies.
- Carry out duties as specified within Hughes Hall affiliation.
- Fellows who are research-active are entitled to a research expenses grant of £1,000 per annum.

The Department

The Social Anthropology Department is a leading centre globally in anthropological teaching and research. Both in the UK and beyond, a large number of anthropologists teaching in major university departments received their doctoral training here, and the current faculty members are engaged in some of the most innovative frontline research in the human and social sciences today. It is one of four Departments within the Faculty of Human, Social and Political Science, along with the Departments of Archaeology, Politics and International Studies, and Sociology.

The Department has a cosmopolitan body of teaching officers, each one at the forefront of their field. Their research ranges across the world and focuses on a broad range of topics. The Department has at present an establishment of 15 teaching officers, together with three further social anthropologists who work as curators in the Museum of Archaeology and Anthropology, which is part of the Department. There are other social anthropologists working in Cambridge, some of them attached to colleges, who contribute to the life of the Department.

We maintain a strong tradition of broad-based undergraduate education, covering all the main core sub-disciplines in the subject as part of the Tripos in Human, Social and Political Sciences (HSPS Tripos), an interdisciplinary programme that allows students to choose from a wide range of subjects. The Department offers five postgraduate degrees - the MPhil in Social Anthropology, the MPhil in Social Anthropological Research, the MPhil in Health, Medicine and Society, the MRes in Social Anthropology and the PhD in Social Anthropology.

More information about the Department of Social Anthropology is available at www.socanth.cam.ac.uk

Hughes Hall

Hughes Hall is one of the largest constituent colleges of the University of Cambridge and is the oldest graduate college.

Joining Hughes Hall means being part of a dynamic and progressive College with over 150 staff, 250 Fellows, and around 900 students, predominantly postgraduates, from around 80 countries.

Hughes Hall is located in the heart of Cambridge, an oasis of calm near the busy and beautiful city centre, halfway between the railway station and the market square. Our main site is a quiet and secluded group of buildings set around the University cricket ground and just around the corner is Mill Road, well known for its cosmopolitan atmosphere and many shops and cafés.

All of our staff and members, from administrators and tutors to housekeepers, chefs and directors are part of a professional, supportive and intellectual force at the centre of the University. In our many ways, we contribute to supporting the people, learning and research at Hughes Hall as well as a wider determination to change the world for the better.

Part of this work is realised through our Bridge initiative which leverages the College's multidisciplinary perspective, international nature, and external focus to help turn brilliant ideas into lasting change. The Bridge also incorporates four exciting Centres of innovation and impact, each addressing significant global issues from climate change and education technology to oracy and digital innovation. You can find out more about the research and impact going on in our Centres and how we are working to change the world for the better.

These hubs of academic and professional innovation are having a wide-reaching influence, drawing global attention to Hughes Hall, and are one aspect of a large, vibrant, friendly and ambitious community supporting one another in the pursuit of excellence to bring about real change and growth in the College, the city and the world.

The University

The University of Cambridge is one of the world's oldest and most successful universities. We are a renowned centre for research, education, and scholarship that makes a significant contribution to society. The University is consistently ranked amongst the top universities in the world. Our affiliates have won more Nobel Prizes than any other University.

Our sustained pursuit of academic excellence is built on a long history of world-leading teaching and research within a distinctive collegiate system. For eight centuries our ideas and innovations have shaped the world. Our principal goal is to remain one of the world's leading universities in an increasingly competitive global higher education sector. Today the University of Cambridge is at the centre of a cluster of over 4,300 businesses employing 58,000 people.

Our capital investment projects include academic and commercial growth at both the West Cambridge Innovation District, and the Biomedical Campus in the south of the city. Eddington, in North West Cambridge, is a mixed-use development including key worker housing for staff, a community centre and a new primary school, managed by the University. Through these projects, the University is deeply embedded in, and committed to serving, our local community. These are all conspicuous signs of a University that is not only adapting to new needs, but also anticipating the future.

Our mission is to contribute to society through the pursuit of education, learning, and research at the highest international levels of excellence. Our core values are:

- freedom of thought and expression; and
- freedom from discrimination.

About Us

The University is one of the world's leading academic centres. It comprises 150 faculties and departments, together with a central administration and other institutions. Our institutions, museums and collections are a world-class resource for researchers, students and members of the public representing one of the country's highest concentrations of internationally important collections.

The University has an annual income of £2 billion. Research income, won competitively from the UK Research Councils, the European Union (EU), major charities and industry, exceeds £500 million per annum and continues to grow.

The Colleges and the University remain committed to admitting the best students regardless of their background and to investing considerable resources both in widening access and financial support. The 31 Colleges are self-governing, separate legal entities which appoint their own staff. Many academic staff are invited to join a College as a Teaching Fellow, which provides a further social and intellectual dimension. The Colleges admit undergraduate students, provide student accommodation and pastoral support and deliver small group teaching for undergraduates.

The University awards degrees and its faculties and departments provide lectures and seminars for students and determine the syllabi for teaching.

Our instinct for seeking out excellence and setting up enduring and mutually beneficial collaborations has led us to establish strategic partnerships across the globe. Whether it is the successful Cambridge-Africa Programme involving universities in Ghana, Uganda and elsewhere on the African continent; or the close association with the government of India to pursue new research in crop science; or the creation, with Germany's Max Planck Institutes, of a Cambridge-based centre for the study of ethics, human economy and social change – international partnerships are now an inextricable part of the University's make-up.

“Cambridge graduates and researchers have made – and continue to make – a colossal contribution to human knowledge and the understanding of the world around us. Their work touches on the lives and livelihoods of everyone from patients diagnosed with life-threatening diseases, to residents of areas critically affected by climate change, to children growing up in conflict zones. It has a lasting impact on our society, our economy and our culture: the world is truly a better place thanks to their efforts.”

Stephen Toope, Vice Chancellor 2019

Working at the University

Working at Cambridge you will join a diverse, talented and innovative community, with more than 23,000 students and over 16,000 staff from all walks of life and corners of the world.

The University continually explores strategies to attract and retain the best people. It is committed to supporting its staff to achieve their best. We are a fair, diverse and inclusive society and we believe our staff are our greatest asset. There is strong commitment to developing institutional leadership and supporting and encouraging staff development at all levels.

We offer a variety of roles including academic, research, professional, managerial and support roles. We also offer extensive benefits and excellent learning opportunities within a stimulating working environment.

The University's estate is undergoing the most significant transformation in its history. Cambridge has been able to create a science and technology campus to the west of the city centre, and is expanding further to the north west of Cambridge including investing in affordable homes for University key workers and community facilities. Even with our continued development, the University remains within walking or cycling distance across the campus. The University is a major partner on the Cambridge Biomedical Campus and we continue to redevelop our historic city centre sites demonstrating our determination to ensure that we can offer the best facilities and opportunities for our staff and students.

Equality & diversity

The University has built its excellence on the diversity of its staff and student community. We aim to be a leader in fostering equality and inclusion, and in promoting respect and a sense of belonging for all. We encourage applications from all sections of society. All appointments are made on the basis of merit. We have an Equal Opportunities Policy, along with a range of diversity groups, including the Women's Staff Network, Race Equality Network and LGBT+ Staff Network. More details are available here:

<http://www.equality.admin.cam.ac.uk/>

The University has a bronze Race Equality Charter award, with a framework for improving the representation, progression and success of minority ethnic staff and students within higher education. Furthermore, the University's silver Athena swan award recognises and celebrates good practice in recruiting, retaining and promoting gender equality.

Living in Cambridge

Cambridge is rich in cultural diversity. From beautiful University and College buildings, museums and art galleries, quaint gardens and punts on the River Cam, to a vibrant restaurant and café scene, our employees are surrounded by the wonderful features of this unique city.

You can find a wide-range of high street shops and 3 shopping centres, with independent alternatives at the historic market and nestled within the passageways in the city centre. You will find a cinema, bowling alley, a nightclub and various live performances at the Cambridge Leisure Park, with further entertainment options at the Corn Exchange, Arts Theatre and the ADC Theatre. Further information can be found on the Visit Cambridge website.

If you prefer the faster pace of life, London is a 45 minute train journey away. For those travelling from overseas, Stansted Airport is just 45 minutes away and Heathrow Airport under 2 hours away. The University is a short distance from a host of other attractions such as Ely Cathedral, Newmarket Races and various wildlife parks and stately homes. Cambridge is also within easy reach of the beautiful Broads and coastlines of Norfolk and Suffolk.

Relocation Support

The University recognises the importance of helping individuals to move and settle into a new area. We provide support and guidance to those relocating internationally or domestically to take up a post at the University of Cambridge, liaising with other University offices and selected partners to ensure comprehensive relocation support is available. This includes: accommodation, childcare, schools, banking, immigration and transport. If you would like further information, please visit <https://www.accommodation.cam.ac.uk/RelocationService/>. The Shared Equity Scheme and the Reimbursement of Relocation Expenses Scheme provide financial assistance to qualifying new members of staff with the costs of relocating to Cambridge.

Accommodation Service

The University Accommodation Service helps staff, students and visiting scholars who are affiliated to the University in their search for suitable accommodation in Cambridge. The dedicated accommodation team can provide access to a wide range of University-owned furnished and unfurnished properties, and has a database of private sector accommodation available for short and long-term lets. For further information and to register with this free service please visit <https://www.accommodation.cam.ac.uk/>

What Cambridge can offer

We offer a comprehensive reward package to attract, motivate and retain high performing staff at all levels and in all areas of work.

The University offers a wide range of competitive benefits, from family leave entitlement, to shopping and travel discount schemes. Our generous annual leave package contributes to the positive wellbeing of our University employees. Sabbatical leave enables academics to focus on research and scholarship, whilst still maintaining their full salary. The University also has a career break scheme for academic and academic-related staff, with additional flexible working policies for all other staff.

Pay and benefits

The University salary structure includes automatic service-related pay progression in many of its grades and an annual cost of living increase. In addition to this, employees are rewarded for outstanding contribution through a number of regular pay progression schemes. The University offers attractive pensions schemes for employees, with an additional benefit of a salary exchange arrangement providing tax and national insurance savings.

CAMbens employee benefits

The University offers employees a wide range of competitive benefits, known as CAMbens. CAMbens offers something for everyone across a range of categories, including:

- Financial Benefits, including shopping discounts (both local and national) and a Payroll Giving scheme;
- Relocation and Accommodation Benefits, including relocation assistance and interest-free Rental Deposit Loans;
- Travel Benefits, including Cycle to Work, discounts on train season tickets and interest-free Travel to Work loans;
- Family Friendly and Lifestyle Benefits, including support with childcare and family friendly policies;
- Health and Wellbeing Benefits, including a University Staff Counselling Service, discounts at the University Sports Centre, and other local gyms, and healthcare schemes.

What Cambridge can offer

Family-friendly policies

The University recognises the importance of supporting its staff. We have a range of family-friendly policies to aid employees' work-life balance including a generous maternity, adoption and shared parental leave entitlement of 18 weeks full pay, and paid emergency leave for parents and carers.

Other family-friendly support includes:

Our highly regarded workplace nurseries, a childcare salary exchange scheme and a high quality holiday Playscheme may be available to help support University employees with caring responsibilities (subject to demand and qualifying criteria). Further childcare information can be found here:

<https://www.childcare.admin.cam.ac.uk/>

The Newcomers and Visiting Scholars Group is an organisation within the University run by volunteers whose aim is to help newly arrived wives, husbands, partners and families of Visiting Scholars and members of the University to settle in Cambridge and give them an opportunity to meet local people. The Postdoc Academy supports the postdoctoral community within Cambridge. Further details are available here: <https://www.postdocacademy.cam.ac.uk/>

Your wellbeing

The University's Sport Centre, Counselling Services and Occupational Health are just some of the support services available to University employees to promote their physical and mental wellbeing. The University delivers The Festival of Wellbeing annually, which is a programme of stimulating talks and activities, which aim to promote wellbeing and good mental and physical health. The University also hosts the Cambridge Festival, which is a great opportunity to get your first taste of public engagement, through volunteering, supporting hands-on activities or proposing a talk.

Development opportunities

We support new employees to settle in through various activities as well as supporting their professional and career development on an ongoing basis. Our Personal and Professional Development (PPD) team provide development opportunities for all University employees, including face-to-face sessions, online learning modules and webinars. All employees also have unlimited access to LinkedIn Learning to support their development. Both new and existing employees can undertake funded Apprenticeships, which lead to a range of vocational and professional qualifications. We offer reduced staff fees for University of Cambridge graduate courses and the opportunity to attend lectures and seminars held by University departments and institutions. A range of University training providers also offer specialist learning and development in their own areas e.g. teaching and learning, digital literacy, finance, health and wellbeing, safety.
